Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

There are a good many spots in the roads in this vicinity which are dangerous to careless drivers. There are several on the Auburn road. The point about dangerous places for careless drivers, are doubly dangerous to careful drivers when the road is dangerous. The Downieville highway is a fine example of that kind of a road.

One spot, however, has many times been called to the attention of the Nugget. It is the juncture of the road to the County Hospital and the Tahoe Ukiah highway. There a driver, be he ever so careful is in danger. The hospital road joins the highway at a steep pitch and a high bank hides the view of the highway until the driver is right on it. Only one ameliorating circumstance is listed in favor of this dangerous junction. It is very convenient to the County Hospital.

Sometime since the head of the House of Morgan sat in a Congressional committee room, where he was being quizzed, and an enterprising impresario placed on his knee a pretty midget. The affluent Morgan smiled and permitted a photographer to take a picture of financier and half-pint lady. And now Secretary Morgenthau of the Treasury, proposes to mint midget money, mill pieces, half and quarter cents, to meet the needs of sales tax payers. There is a subtle association of ideas here, though it would be far fetched to accuse the United States Treasurer of plagiarism.

Are Italy and Japan riding to a financial fall? Mussolini has suspended the 40-percent gold coverage law. This can mean only one thing: inflation. The reason given is that Italy must have more "money" to purchase raw war materials abroad. Will exporters of this country accept depreciated money, or impaired credits for war materials?

In Japan, the recent "push" into Northern China and Mongolia on the part of the military satraps, is alarming both bankers and the oppressed tax payers. Every mile the Japanese domain, or dominion, is extended, weakens the central structure at home. Italian and Japanese bellicosity is hugely expensive, a costly adventure for each nation. If either topples under the tremendous load Mars piles upon their backs, every other country in the world will suffer, especially those in which credits have been granted.

To this writer, it has for a long time seemed that the only safe foreign policy, for Uncle Sam to adopt is one of isolation. To enforce a neutrality, to withhold credits, to restrict foreign trade to a cash basis, to promote within this country the production of all commodities which we naturally lack, seems the safe course. Ultimately, of course, we shall face the same condition now faced by Italy, Japan and most of Europe: a large population with a comparatively high standard of living, which must needs overflow somewhere, probably into the territory of backward peoples whose natural riches have not been developed. But that time may be long postponed by wise national planning, something we have had very little of.

Wasted forests, wasted oil pools, wasted mineral resources, wasted soil, neglected water ways, undesirable immigration, over centralization of population in great cities, have marked our rise to greatness in world affairs. The nation is still young, and is gaining wisdom. Immigration has been all but halted, the waterways are being brought back to their rightful place in transportation economy, forests are being replanted, efforts are being made to stay the waste of oil reserves, industrial lealers themselves are attempting to decentralize industry, an earnest and expansive effort is being made to halt soil erosion. In short, government forces backed by enlightened public opinion are attempting to halt waste and to control the use of natural resources.

When all is said and done, perhaps, and historians weigh in disinterested scales the accomplishments of the second Roosevelt, we surmise that the initiation of the CCC camps, the great 100 mile wide tree belt through the Middle West, the steps made toward conservation and restoration, in brief, will far overbalance any good recorded in 'managed currency," in NRA, in AAA, and all the rest of the alphabetical adventures. Even these may prove of value as indicating reefs and shoals the ship of state should avoid under any condition.

Many economists are agreed that henceforth we shall always have a large percentage of unemployed. As a matter of fact, in times of prosperity, there has been a great number of unemployed in this country, many of them through physical and mental handicaps, unemployable. Heretofore, however, this considerable group has been the care of local governments, which, generally speaking are able to obtain a greater return from such labor as these elements afford, than fatherly Uncle Sam. To that condition President Roosevelt is trying to return, by insisting on larger contributions from state and local governments toward their employment and subsistence, and less from the Federal government. Far seeing and public spirited citizens are proposing a method to deal humanely with this army of unemployed, and normally unemployable, when recovery returns and finds this group still to be cared for. It will be discussed in Monday's issue of the Nugget.

SCOUTS AT CAMP PAHATSI HIKE UP TALL PEAKS

The Dinosaur of olden times a mighty beast was he; his head got home at one o'clock and his tail at half past three: Such was one of the entertaining stunts at Campfire during the second week of Scout Camp. Another successful week of Camp has been completed with twenty five new scouts arriving in camp to start the third week of camp. There is a total of 49 scouts for the last week of scout camp.

During the past week a hike to Mt. Lincoln was made where large patches of snow were found on top. Sides were chosen and a royal snow battle ensued. Lunch was eaten on top. Five scouts hiked all the way passing their 14 mile hike test.

Monday night each patrol went on an overnight hike, while out on the hike they observed the eclipse of the moon. Patrol No. 1 led by Robert Hansen of Loomis won the trip to the weather bureau station at the Donner Summit by earning the most advancements during the week. Patrol No. 3 led by Jim Ricksecker of Auburn visited the inter-locking plant at Norden on the Southern Pacific as a reward for earning 104 hat honors during the week. At the Court of Honor Saturday twenty-two scouts received advancements. The Tribe of Pahatsi held a meeting Friday night initiating members into its honor organization. Patrol leaders this week are: Lloyd Owen, Penryn, Forrest Rupley, Jim Ricksecker, Auburn, Clem Organ, Nevada City and Ed Leak, Loomis.

Tuesday of this week the Camp goes on its hike to Castle Peaks. This hike is always looked forward to each year by the scouts who come to camp the third week. The top of Castle Peaks is 9139 feet and a wonderful view is seen from the top. One day during the week a game of capture the flag is planned. The camp will be divided into two sides. The line will be the county line. One side will be in Placer county and the other side in Nevada county.

Saturday evening the scouts will be entertained by the Jamboree scouts who are having a training meeting at camp July 27-28. They will perform the stunts they are practicing for the Jamboree.

Monday morning Mr. Beecher left with three scouts for a five day fishing hike to Independence Lake county in Sierra county. They will return to camp on Friday. They will change messages with camp Thursday night across the canyon three miles away. This will be done by signal fires using the Morse code. The 5-day hikers are Frank Chilton, Frank Vail and Russell Hupe.

During the past week a 15-foot extension has been put on the swimming dock and another boat finished and placed in the water. Camp now has eight boats.

Camp will be used by the Campfire girls following scout camp.

Father Neptune Visits Nevada City Tonight

Tonight Father Neptune arrayed in the panoply of the "wine dark sea" that Odysius roamed, will visit Nevada City's swimming pool. Mighty Neptune, ruler of wind and waves attended by his tritons, his mermen, his mermaids and his water babies, enthroned on a great barge, and drawn by stalwart spans of human porpoises will make his royal progress and survey of the splendid new swimming pool.

Seats for five hundred spectators will be provided on the two terraces to the south of the pool. The new high diving platform has been completed and tested by the expert divers, who will give an exhibition of their skill this evening.

"Showing Neptune," the title of the play which forms the principal feature of the pageant, this evening, is a lively drama of action. There will be exhibitions of swimming for health, swimming for safety and swimming for fun. All the known kinds of swimming strokes will be illustrated and demonstrated. Diving in great variety will be exemplified. The 'water babies revue", an act in which the tiny tots participate, will be keenly interesting.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for seating spectators. Before and during the pageant, no automobiles will be admitted to the park unless the occupants have tickets. The parking space along Nimrod street will be roped off, and the park avenue closed temporarily.

Chief of Police Robson and a highway traffic officer will take care of the traffic. Ushers and ticket takers have been appointed by Addison Janes, life guard and director of the pageant, who will serve the spectators courteously and efficiently.

Under direction of L. E. Sweeney, the Nevada City high school band in full uniform will play from the porch of the new community house. Many of the evolutions of the swimmers in the pool will be performed to music provided by the band.

Following the pageant the participants and actors in the evening's entertainment and members of the Nevada City high school band will enjoy a dance in the new community house.

Tickets to this entertainment are 25 cents. They are on sale at the pool, at the Harris and Dickerman Drug Stores, and at the Nugget office.

The entire proceeds of the water pageant will go for the benefit of the pool and the park.

The park commission wishes to thank Ascar Odegaard of the Nevada County Lumber Co., for planks for the seats on the terraces, Archie I. Rowen of the Signal Oil Co., for providing gas drums for use in building the float, and W. H. Hahn, well known electrician, for lending his amplifying device for this evening.

Here is the program for tonight, the cast, the events and the order in which they occur:

Moral Force Vs. War

The moral force exerted by the nations, tremendously more potent than force of arms, has restrained Italy from establishing an armed protectorate over Abyssinia, and may yet act to prevent any large scale warfare between the two countries, in the opinion of United States Senator Elbert Duncan Thomas, professor of political science at the University of Utah and guest lecturer at the University of California this summer.

"Had it not been for this moral force there would have been marching feet in Abyssinia several months ago," Senator Thomas said. "I do not now believe that war will come there, although it will be necessary in some way to save the face of both the Italian dictator and the Ethiopian emperor. This may be the League of Nations task, for it can be done through the type of intervention offered by the League, the same as it was done in the Corfu affair several years ago, which was composed by the Council of Ambassadors.

"It must be remembered that the moral force exerted against slavery in Abyssinia, stopped that age-old practice there. I believe it will act to stop actual warfare now. The collective will of the world, sometimes expressed through the League, sometimes in other ways, is the expression of world cooperative endeavor as opposed to armed conflict. In the present instance it is not backing Italy and it is not backing Abyssinia. It is merely resting on the principle that the situation affecting the two countries can be adjusted without recourse to force of arms.

"Regarding the strength of the moral force that the League exerts, it might be cited that the Supreme Court of the United States has no way of enforcing its decisions. It must rely on the moral backing of the country. Congress could re-pass any measure declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, and the President could enforce such measure. But if this happened all of our democratic institutions would be broken down and chaos would result. Moral force is the power that has held our union together since the first federation and in spite of the Civil War,, this holds as true as ever."

Asked regarding the expediency of the United States joining the League of Nations, Senator Thomas said:

"As long as the people of the country feel that there is no need for the United States to join the League it would be better for us to stay out of it. We can still be a powerful influence for good apart from any League affiliation. We can throw the weight of our influence on the side of any cooperative decision, such as the one which brought the non-recognition of Manchukuo. In common with the other countries of the world we refused to recognize the new state that was set up there. True, the American oil interests in this new state of Manchukuo have withdrawn, like the British and the Dutch, but we will enjoy many priviliges there in common with the other nations."

CALIF. NATIONAL FORESTS GIVEN BUT $1,166,263

Distribution among the eighteen national forests of California of $1,116,263 received from the Emergency Relief Administration by the U. S. Forest Service was announced today by Regional Forester S. STATE FAIR WILL GIVE TEST TO DRAFT HORSES

SACRAMENTO, July 25. — Is there a span of draft horses in California that can pull a new world's championship into the state?

The answer will be given during the ten day California State Fair opening in Sacramento August 31, when scores of teams unhitched from farm wagons and city drays, will take part in the first pulling contest to be held at the fair in over fifty years.

The contest will also mark a tug of war between the horse and automobile, for the pulling machine, a scientific instrument called a dynamometer, is mounted on a sturdily built chassis, built in the shops of the Iowa Experiment Station at Ames.

Two Belgian horses on an Ohio farm hold the world's heavyweight record with a tractive pull of 3850 pounds, sufficient to draw seven 16-inch plows turning a six inch layer of soil. A pair of Michigan farm Percherons holds the lightweight record, with a tractive pull of 3150 pounds.

Prizes of over $500 have been offered by the State Fair Board to be divided equally between the heavyweight and lightweight classes. Winners in each class will be awarded $100 each.

The pulling contest, long a feature of the larger middle-west state fairs, will be held on the infield of the race track during the afternoon racing programs. It will be conducted under the strict rules of the Horse and Mule Association of America.

FAIR FISHERWOMAN HAS ASTOUNDING GOOD LUCK

This story concerns a local hard-working young lady who wished to vary the monotony of her days' labor with the delights of a fishing trip. It appears that a party of her friends, both sexes, were about to hie themselves to the sparkling waters of a certain high altitude stream in true Isaac Walton style and the young lady in question and her escort decided to accept an invitation to join the group.

The escort is a fisherman of considerable experience and with true chivalry decided that he would provide all equipment for himself and lady. The girl in question, however, didn't know this and decided she must acquire the necessary paraphernalia. She borrowed a rod and line from her father for the excursion. Knowing the fundamentals of the sport she realized there was another item necessary, to-wit a hook. So, she bought a fish hook.

On arrival at the fishing grounds the members of the party began the customary procedure of laying out their fly hooks and discussing the choice of the various lures for the day's fishing. The lady produced her lone fly, and refused any offers to displace that particular bait upon her line.

Strange as it may be, luck held and fish after fish fell upon her fly and was yanked from the ripples. Was it "beginner's luck?" Perhaps and maybe not. It seems that the lady had patronized a certain store where the clerks are very glad to explain the virtues of bait and had especially recommended the fly hook in question as the best type for chasing the fish around the bottom of a pool in a rapid stream. Now, whether or not the hook did chase the fish or the fish catch the fly is a question that is still up for debate among the certain fishers. At any rate the lady brought the fish home.

WINE AND BEER SHOWS TAX GAIN

SACRAMENTO, July 25. — State taxes of 2 cents a gallon on beer and wine for June were $31,180.37 more than for the same month a year ago, marking an increase of 23.55 percent. Substantial gains have been registered in both beer and wine sales which go to make up a total gallonage of $8,177,633, subject to the state levy.

R. E. Collins of Redding, member of the State Board of Equalization, revealed this improvement in tax revenues here today when the board completed its assessment of California breweries and wineries, together with levies on importers of beverages produced outside of the state.

Commenting upon the tax roll, Collins said:

"Consumers of beer and wine continue to show the marked preference which has been evidenced during the past two years for our local products. Out of a total of 6,916,734 gallons of beer subject to the June tax, only 640,753 gallons, representing less than eight per cent, were imported.

"California wines are in even greater favor as only 29,974 gallons came from outside of the state, in a total taxable distribution of 1,260,898 gallons. Thus barely a third of one per cent of the wine sold in California last month was of foreign vintage."

NEW HYDRANT AT PLAZA

Residents in the eastern part of this city are quite proud of the new hydrant installed at the Plaza yesterday by Superintendent of Streets H. H. Hallett. It is located under a tree near the Union Ice Company's plant. Mr. Fred Sauvee, manager of the ice plant will cool the water until thirsty persons will be served ice cold water. It is beside the Tahoe-Ukiah highway and will also serve thirsty tourists with soft, ice cold water. In former times people drank from the hose at the Plaza Garage and wafer sprayed over their clothes and faces.

STATE DIRECTOR ISSUES RULES FOR WPA WORK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Politics have no part in the selection of the Works Progress Administration personnel, Frank Y. McLaughlin, Works Progress Administrator for California, retiterated today.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly that appointments in the new program will be made, first, upon a basis of merit; second, upon a basis of sympathy for and understanding of the program," McLaughlin said.

Ralph G. Wadsworth has been named as Deputy Administrator, Works Progress Administration, while Charles I. Schottland is Assistant Administrator in charge of the State Emergency Relief Administration.

Wadsworth formerly headed the Works Division of SERA under McLaughlin while Schottland has served as Executive Assistant Administrator of SERA.

SERA WORK TO END

No new SERA work projects will be started and no commitments have been made against new projects after July 15. McLaughlan has requested that every effort be made to complete all operating work projects by July 31, insofar as possible. Sponsors of desirable projects which cannot be completed by that date will be advised to make application for continuation to the Works Progress Administration.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR EMPLOYMENT

All persons to be employed on the new works program must be:

Registered for employment with the National Reemployment or State Employment Office in his residence locality.

On relief as of May 31.

At least 16 years of age and able-bodied.

Not currently serving sentence in a penal or correctional institution.

First selections of workers must come from relief lists as of May 31. These persons will be placed as is best indicated by their occupational classifications prepared by the employment agencies. As these lists are exhausted, persons subsequently eligible for relief will be given work.

By persons eligible for relief is meant all resident families, single persons of local homeless persons receiving direct relief or work relief.

$25,000 LIMIT

New construction projects calling for a federal expenditure of more than $25,000 will not be acceptable under regulations of Washington authorities, except for the following types of work on which there is no cost limitation:

Airports, farm to market roads, recreational facilities, parks, sidewalks, gutters. The $25,000 limitation will not apply to repair or rehabilitation projects nor to the continuation of existing SERA projects.

SPONSORS TO CONTRIBUTE

In a bulletin issued to WPA and SERA executives, McLaughlin said:

"All sponsors are expected to make contributions to the projects in the form of superintendence, materials, equipment, engineering plans, et cetera, to the maximum extent possible. In the case of construction projects, the average contribution toward all projects submitted by a single sponsor must be equal to at least 20 percent of the total estimated cost of the work, provided that where two or more sponsors agree in writing to submit their projects on a group basis, the percentage specified may be considered as applying to the average of the group as a whole. There may be projects on which the sponsor will offer to contribute all costs except labor, and where such costs will aggregate less than 20 percent of the cost of the work. In such cases these projects will not be included in the computation of the average contribution of the sponsor or group of sponsors."

Sponsors may include in their labor requests necessary foremen, supervisors and superintendents to be paid from federal funds. These workers will be paid in accordance with the monthly earnings scale set by federal authorities.

FEDERAL EXPENDITURE LIMIT

Estimated federal expenditure per man-year of labor shall not exceed $1,000 in the cast of any project or group or projects submitted by a single sponsor provided that two or more sponsors may by agreement submit a group of projects which, as a whole, will conform to that limitation.

Thru the Knot Hole

A Glimpse of Building Activity

VOL. 1, JULY 26, 1935. No. 16.

Another Bestile bathroom is to be installed in the new home being constructed by Contractor Howard Ross for Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hiscox. Plastering is about finished and work on interior finish will start soon.

We have connections whereby any special work in the building line such as special doors, sash, milling on lumber etc., can be rushed where the customer is in a hurry. Of course we like to have some time on orders but if you have to have materials FAST give us the order.

Contractor John Bertelsen has a crew at work on the finishing of the new Bolton home. Narrow hardwood flooring will be used in this home, giving a floor that will have a minimum chance to cup.

We delivered two Heatilators during the week thereby insuring to two families perfect satisfaction in their new fireplaces. It will pay you to investigate the Heatilator for your fireplace whether old or new.

Contractor George Bobst among his other jobs is doing an extensive remodeling job on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bettles. He also has under way an alteration job on a home for Mr. and Mrs. Lagerquist.

When your buildings of any type are not in the territory covered by a city sewage system the nearest approach to such a system is a Palco Septic tank installation. You will probably never have any reason to give sewage any thought if you have a Palco Tank installed. We will be glad to advise with you about it.

And by the way have you heard the story of the two homeless fleas? Well, they are saving their money to buy a dog.

NEXT WEEK'S CONCERT ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Next week the Nevada City Municipal Band under the direction of L. E. Sweeney will give its concert on the National Hotel balcony on Thursday night instead of Wednesday night, the regular evening. The change from Wednesday to Thursday has been made because of the card parties for the boy scout jamboree which will be held in various homes in this city on that evening.

During the Thursday night band concert a silver offering will be taken and presented to the scout jamboree committee by the band.

Every one has enjoyed the summer band concerts so much that it is expected there will be a generous donation.

SAN JUAN WATER USERS TO MEET

There will be a meeting of water users at North San Juan Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Solari's hall. "PRIVATE LIVES OF DON JUAN" COMING

Friday night at the Nevada Theatre, patrons will be treated to an unusually good musical movie—"Shoot the Works" starring Ben Bernie and his band, Jack Oakie, Dorothy Dell, Arline Judge, and Alison Skipworth.

Wesley Ruggles, who directed "College Humor," and "Bolero", wielded the megaphone on "Shoot the Works," an adaption of an original play written by Ben Hecht and Gene Fowler.

"Shoot the Works" is a comedy-melody-romance about a broken-down side show troupe, the Nicky Nelson Enterprises, which survives extinction because it has a flagpole sitter and a stuffed whale.

Jack Oakie, as Nicky Nelson, is preparing to launch a vaudeville act with Arline Judge. With the aid of Bernie and his "lads" they manage to win fame and fortune. As is usually the case, Oakie falls with a thud for the one and only girl, who is played by Dorothy Dell. And although his first effort at reforming for her sake fails, and he almost loses her, he wins her back again, and with her his long sought fame.

Much of the comedy relief of the picture is furnished by Roscoe Karns, as the dizzy flagpole sitting champion, and Arline Judge, his two-timing sweetheart. Several new hit tunes by Gordon and Revel and Rainger and Robin are introduced by Bernie, with Miss Dell rendering the vocal selections.

Saturday night the Nevada Theatre will show "Stolen Harmony" with George Raft and Ben Bernie and his band.

Sunday night "The Private Lives of Don Juan" starring Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., and Merle Oberon will show. This is a picture of pictures—Fairbands in a role that only Fairbanks could play! And opposite him will be the ultra-glamorous Merle Oberon!

Enactment Protects California Debtors

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles by Ralph H. Taylor, farm leader and recognized authority on problems of state government, reviewing the work of the 1935 State Legislature as it affects both the farmer and the general public.

Shakespeare's Shylock, if he suddenly dropped into California seeking his traditional pound of flesh, would undoubtedly catch the first boat back to his native Venice—after a brief reading of California's new mortgage and trust deed moratorium act!

For the 1935 State Legislature played Portia to California debtors in the grand manner, enacting one of the most liberal programs of debt relief legislation in the entire country.

The program is so liberal, in fact, that both courts and citizens should take unusual precautions to guard against improvident and unscrupulous debtors abusing their new privliges and undermining the state's whole credit structure.

Debt-burdened farmers, fighting for a new foothold and new security, probably will benefit by the debt easement legislation as much as any group in the state. But the farmer, too, would be among those hardest hit if abuses were permitted which destroyed confidence in the credit system. Thousands of farmers would be utterly unable to operate their properties if they were barred from securing loans during the planting and harvesting seasons and California agriculture should lead the way in preventing any further breakdown of credit.

In the final analysis, the responsibility for destroying or strengthening confidence in California credit will rest with the individual—the borrower! The legislature went the limit in an effort to ease the burden and provide relief. And California farmers, together with other debtors, must also go the limit in meeting their obligations as rapidly as possible and restoring confidence in their responsibility and integrity.

MINNESOTA PATTERN

The new mortgage and trust deed moratorium law, which will remain in effect until February, 1937, continues all of the basic principles of the temporary moratorium act passed at the January session of the legislature and, in addition, broadens several features of the old law.

Patterned after the Minnesota moratorium act, which has been tested in the United States Supreme Court, the law provides that hard-pressed property owners, faced with foreclosures, may appeal to the superior court of their county and secure a readjustment of interest and principal payments commensurate with their ability to pay.

Once accorded such relief, debtors who comply with the court's orders and keep up their tax and insurance payments are protected from foreclosure for the duration of the moratorium. The law provides that debtors may seek relief under its provisions as long as ninety days after foreclosure proceedings have been instituted.

DELINQUENT TAXES

Also of importance to farmers and others in the trying period of depression convalescence is a new law giving taxpayers the right to pay delinquent taxes on the installment plan without penalties. This tax-relief act will be in effect until April 20, 1936 and will enable property owners to redeem their properties by payment of ten annual installments.

By eliminating penalties or interest on delinquent taxes, the law will materially cut the costs of redeeming properties, permitting thousands of property owners to make a new start and greatly reducing the delinquent tax rolls in the state.

Easing the burden still further, the legislature also enacted a series of bills which will result in substantial savings in crop mortgage costs, due to eliminations and reductions in filing and recording fees on crop and livestock loans.

PHOTOGRAPHER OPENS STUDIO IN THIS CITY

He was a photographer in Chico far 25 years, giving up his work recently when his son was employed as manager of the Western Auto Supply Store in Grass Valley, coming to this section to be with him. An advertisement of special offers will appear in this paper.

A. M. TOM
HERB SPECIALIST

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

For years I was a sufferer from constipation. My blood was out of order and my kidneys and bladder bothered me terribly causing dreadful back-aches. On top of all this I had female trouble.

I tried several doctors but none helped me. One recommended an operation which I dreaded as a previous operation did not help me.

One day my husband noticed A. M. Tom's advertisement and suggested that I visit him. Having taken Herb treatments for five weeks, I am well again, and able to go back to work.

I cannot praise A. M. Tom too highly and if you are suffering I honestly recommend you to see him as I know what he has done for me, he can do for others.

MEASURES IN OLD DAYS WERE THUMB AND ARM

"A yard shall be the distance from the point of my nose to the end of my thumb."

That was the decree handed down by Henry I to establish some standard measurement of length.

These are some of the examples of the unscientific rules which governed the units of measurement in the olden days as explained in picture and story at the Johansson Gages exhibit in the Ford Exposition building. The romantic tale is seen by thousands who chuckle and laugh as they review the history of the measusement of length.

Linear standards originated naturally from parts of the human body. The length of the forearm from elbow to middle finger tip was the ancient Sumarian and Egyptian unit of measurement, called the cubit. There were various cubits differing somewhat in length, but two were of outstanding importance. The Royal Egyptian has been recovered from measurements of the Greek Parthenon.

Col. Belaiew, the Russian metrologist, has shown the relationship between the two cubits as "the area of a square on the Olympic cubit equals that of a circle whose diameter is the Royal Egyptian cubit." The Olympic cubit was subdivived into two spans (of about nine inches) 6 palms (three inches), 24 digits (¾ inch). At a later date, two-thirds of the Olympic cubit became the "foot" which was subdivided by the Greeks into twelve thumbnail breadths. The foot unit passed to Rome and so to Britain where its division of twelfths or "unciae" became "inches." In Britain the Roman foot became merged with the Anglo-Saxon measures which also contained the fathom of length across the two arms outstretched, equal to four cubits or six feet.

Under the orman kings, half a fathom, or one arm outstretched from the middle of the body was found to be a more convenient length, particularly for measuring cloth, the most important trade. Thus was originated the yard or three feet across, and a bronze bar was kept as the Standard of Reference in the King's Exchequer, first at Winchester and later at Westminster.

When the new imperial standards for the yard were completed in 1855 two of the new bars were presented to the United States in 1856. Later these copies were compared with the accepted 36 inches of the Troughton scale and finally they were accepted by the Office of Weights and Measures as the standards for the United States. On July 28, 1866, Congress passed the act legalizing the metric system as the standard for the United States.

Other measurements which are explained in the exhibit at the Ford Exposition might be summarized briefly as follows:

In 1324 Edward II decreed that three barley corns taken from the center of an ear and placed end to end, equaled an inch. A foot ranged from 9¾ to 19 inches.

Henry I decreed the distance from the point of his nose to the end of his thumb as the lawful yard.

In the 16th century the lawful rod was the length of the left foot of 16 men lined up as they left church Sunday morning.

In 1851 Sir Joseph Whitworth invented the first measuring machine using end standards and capable of detecting differences of one-millionth of one inch. The first original Vernier caliper as far as is known was invented by Joseph R. Brown in the same year.

JUNE GAS TAX IN 10 PCT. GAIN

SACRAMENTO, July 25.—For the first time since April, 1934, California gasoline taxes show a gain of more than ten percent over the receipts for the corresponding month of the previous year. Assessments just completed by the State Board of Equalization covering June distributions of motor vehicle fuel amount to $3,823,327.44, marking an increase of $374,380.06 over the total for June of 1934, or a gain of 10.85 percent.

Fred E. Stewart of Oakland, Board member, revealed this marked improvement in the yield from the gasoline tax here today, pointing out that the gain so far offset losses in comparative revenue for the earlier part of 1935 that the total taxes for the first six months of the year would exceed those for the first half of 1934 by $295,899.90, or 1.47 percent.

Commenting upon the improved yield from this tax, Stewart said:

"During the first three months of the year, the gasoline tax decreased 1½ percent as compared with the revenue for the first quarter of last year. In April the gain was barely half of one percent, and in May only a fraction of one percent. Consequently the fact that the half year shows any improvement is due entirely to the substantial increase registered last month."

STATE BUILDING PERMITS DOUBLE

With the combined forces of restored confidence and the Federal Housing Administration tugging at its bootstraps, general business on the Pacific Coast is being lifted steadily and surely from the depths of depression, in the opinion of A. P. Giannini, of the Bank of America.

Statistics compiled for the first six months of this year show that general business conditions on the coast have been at a higher level than for any comparable period since 1932, according to announcement from Mr. Giannini's San Francisco offices.

In support of his optimistic outlook, the banker points to the current report of State Labor Commissioner Edward L. Nolan, showing that June employment in 1096 representative California factories gained three percent over the same month last year, while payrolls jumped 15.1 percent during the same period.

CONSTRUCTION IN THE LEAD

"It is significant," said Mr. Giannini, "that the greatest gains in both employment and payrolls are shown in those industries contributing to construction. We find, for instance, that wood manufacturers, including planing mills and fixtures, show employment increased 10.8 percent with payrolls up 22 percent the past month as against June of 1934. Brick, tile and pottery show even greater gains, with employment up 28.3 percent and payrolls increased 44.1 percent.

'This indicates that the energetic program of the Federal Housing Administration is bearing fruit in California. The unprecedented opportunities for low cost, long term building and modernization loans offered under the National Housing Act are being taken advantage of by a thrifty public. Bank of America is cooperating in every way with the Federal Housing Administration in presenting this program to the people and in making available ample funds with which to carry out their respective construction projects. We not only are using many columns of newspaper advertising space, cards and bill boards to call attention to this type of financing, but have set up information bureaus and in each of our branches the prospective borrower will find competent assistance in the actual preparation of applications for government insured loans."
